■ A tragic car accident left our client confined to a wheelchair and fully dependent on her caregivers. At just 26 years old and with permanent injuries she was unable to access many parts of her two-story home.

The home had a number of challenges to mobility, including carpeting that made wheelchair movement slow and difficult, bathrooms that were too small for maneuvering, no wheelchair ramps, no alternate exit, and no real way for Emily to bathe beyond sponge baths.

When our representative visited the expectation was that ELD could find a way to improve the mobility around the downstairs and hopefully make the bathrooms safer and more accessible.

Despite some structural limitations, we not only met those goals but delivered an efficient solution that exceeded the expectations of our client and her family.

Simply adding a room downstairs opened up a whole new realm of possibilities. The bathroom could now be expanded for roll-in access, we also provided a ceiling track from the new bedroom to the bath for easier transport and a means for her to fully bathe.

Beautiful hardwood flooring was added and room transitions were smoothed out to accommodate seamless movement throughout the living space including ramps and an alternate exit.

Finally, with so much of her care reliant upon electrical equipment a backup generator was installed to ensure that care would remain uninterrupted in the event of a power outage.

Not only did we improve access we helped the family remain closer, provided for her comfort, safety and emergency needs, as well as adding beauty to the home.

We don't just remodel, we build to enhance lives.
